

The Solos host device has an integrated display that is used for Electronic Labeling. This e-labeling meets the requirements of KDB784748 D02 and ISED Notice 2014-DRS1003.

The required information is displayed on the display's welcome screen, in the bottom left corner as shown in Figure 1 below. No special user action is required to display this screen. The regulatory information is hard-coded into the device and cannot be modified. This screen will always be shown on startup and displayed until the user pairs the device to a Bluetooth enabled phone. This information is preset in the user's guide that is shipped with each unit.
